BOSS McCABE IN SADDLE

Killed as Party Convention Steam-rolled

Faithful Republican Aides Put Through Orders of Political Chief

McAdoo Followers Defeated in Tumultuous Meeting of Democrats

By KYLE D. PALMER
"Times" Staff Correspondent
SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21. (Exclusive)—California Republicans in state convention assembled here today managed to maintain a semblance of harmony in the organization of the party's machinery, for the fall campaign, but even the outward aspects of Democratic accord and tranquility disappeared in a storm of angry conversations and factional dissension in which the supporters of William G. McAdoo were temporarily, at least, worsted.

Whatever the outcome of the smart of Democratic hopes and ambitions, it is probable that John B. Elliott, the party's nominee for United States Senator, will ignore his official campaign committee and conduct an independent fight.

The Republican convention, under the expert manipulation of Boss McCabe and Sheriff Finn of San Francisco, organized promptly, proceeded quickly and efficiently to perform the tasks assigned and adjourned. Controller Ray L. Riley was named temporary chairman of the convention. He delivered a brief address, bespeaking party solidarity in support of all nominees. Representative Spring was named permanent chairman.

SEAM ROLLER WORKS

Committees previously designated by Messrs. McCabe, Finn and Kent Parrot were proposed, approved and held what to do when to do it. Nominations were made, seconded and named. Occasionally some benches of the bosses forgot his lines and needed a little coaching, but for the most part the Republican convention was a marvel of what can be accomplished by two or three men who know what they want and possess the hardihood and power to obtain it.

The language of the Republican meeting became too tame for scores of delegates, who left their seats in a state of commotion. Elliott was hurried to the state senate to witness the political free-for-all in the Democratic caucus.

There, clonched data, heated conversations, high words and a veritable bedlam of argument and recrimination, followed much amusement and the disinterested onlookers. The Democrats lost no time in shattering all hopes of a get-together conference.

Jury Out Three Hours to Convict Admitted Killer

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 21. (AP)—Tom Johnson, self-acclaimed murderer, was found guilty here tonight. The jury was out almost three hours.

Johnson was charged with slaying Leonard Erdall, young attorney and former football player at the University of Minnesota, who was killed during a hold-up last December. Johnson surrendered in Seattle.

American's Prior Request for Metal Firm Shares Not Allowed

Attorney-General's Haste on Merton Case Told of by Witness

NEW YORK, Sept. 21. (AP)—Through a woman witness called five minutes before court adjourned, the government today struck from a new angle in the conspiracy trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller. Miss Edith Haworth of Washington, a clerk in the Alien Property Custodian's office, was the witness. She identified documents intended to show that fifty-nine days before the claims of Richard Merton, German metal magnate, acting as agent for the Societe Suisse Four Valeurs de Metaux, for shares of the American Metal Company valued at $7,000,000, were recommended by Miller and approved by Daugherty, a claim made by a neutral and an American for part of the same shares was denied without the papers in the case being taken from the files of the Alien Property Custodian's office.

The rejected claim was filed in December, 1920, by Julian B. Beatty of New York, and Edward Grueter of Basel, Switzerland, as record-owners of the shares. Beatty was vice-president and treasurer of the American Metal Company. They claimed twenty shares.

Miss Haworth identified an entry in the claim register of the Alien Property Custodian's office and a file card that revealed the claim had not been removed from the file prior to its rejection on August 2, 1921. It was on September 30, 1921, that Miller handed Merton checks for $6,458,979.97 at a champagne dinner in the Ritz Carlton Hotel here. The remainder of the property value, which totaled $6,997,979.97, was sent Merton by post in Liberty Bonds. On April 18, 1921, Merton's claim showed. He talked to Miller about his claims and met him again, about the time Beatty filed the claim in the Alien Property Custodian's office.

It was from the bonds that Merton, according to his testimony, had bought T. King, former national committee man from Connecticut, $391,000 as "commission" for speeding payment of the claims. King, who was at Washington, had previously been paid $50,000 as a "retainer."

The government tomorrow will begin the offering of physical proof of the alleged distribution of these two sums between Daugherty, Miller, King and James W. Smith of Washington Courthouse, O., who was Daugherty's aide and confidential agent in the Merton case.

SNOW FALLS IN MONTANA AND CANADA

Cold Wave May Spread to North Midwestern States; Storm Approaches Lakes

CHICAGO, Sept. 21. (Exclusive)—Warnings to shipping on the Great Lakes of high winds borne by a storm over the northern Red River valley and a high barometer area farther to the northwest was issued by the Weather Bureau in Chicago today, with freezing temperatures predicted for North Dakota tonight. It was snowing in Calgary today with a temperature of 23 deg.

The cooler weather is expected to spread much of the Middle West tomorrow and tomorrow night.

It was said at the Weather Bureau that damaging storms are indicated. It is possible the Northwestern storm may spread southward and possibly meet the diminishing trail of the southern hurricane. That is unlikely, and even should they coincide it will not necessarily produce any damage. It was added it is not known here how far the hurricane progressed.

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) Sept. 21. (AP)—A heavy snow fell here during the night. Clearing skies today were accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature.

COOLIDGE TO BACK COURT SAFEGUARDS

President Sees No Reason for Change in American Reservations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. (AP)—President Coolidge has no disposition to seek changes in the reservations attached by the Senate to American adherence to the World Court. Suggestions in Geneva that one of the reservations be modified on a compromise basis have not reached the White House declared today that the Chief Executive feels he has no authority to propose such changes to the Senate.

The reservations, it was said at the White House, were intended to protect American interests, and the President's opinion is that they speak for themselves.

Most of the discussion at Geneva concerning the reservations has centered about the fifth, which stipulates that the World Court may not render an advisory opinion in a case involving the United States without the consent of the government.

The President believes this reservation should stand as it is.

RAVAGED FLORIDA SEEKS DEAD IN WRECKED CITIES

Hurricane Dissipated in Mississippi; Coast Fatalities May be 700; Pensacola Cheats Storm

(By The Associated Press)

Having taken an almost unprecedented toll of life and property as it swept across South Florida and the eastern part of the Gulf Coast, the tropical hurricane which came out of the Bahamas last Friday night apparently had spent its fury in Lower Mississippi last night before reaching New Orleans. Direct communication with the nearly a score of cities and towns in the wake of the storm had been re-established. Direct telephone communication established last night with Pensacola, Fla., by Mobile, brought the information that there had been no loss of life from the tropical storm which swept that city yesterday but that property damage was great.

PARAGUAY HURRICANE KILLS 150

Hundreds More Injured and Heavy Damage Done by Sweep of Wind

ENCARNACION (Paraguay) Sept. 21. (AP)—A hurricane struck this city last night, killing about 150 persons, injuring 800 others and causing damage estimated at $1,000,000.

The lower part of the city was wiped out and a number of boats in the Parana River were capsized.

In the most seriously affected district virtually all the buildings were destroyed, including two banks, two hotels and the customs-house. The streets are blocked with debris and trees are uprooted by the gale. Much damage has been done to docks. The power plant collapsed, plunging the city in darkness.

Relief work was hurriedly started, notwithstanding the torrential rain and violent gale. Fourteen wounded thus far have been removed from the debris. The authorities have taken measures to prevent looting. Medical supplies and foodstuffs have been rushed here from other cities. Many of the injured have been taken across the river to Posadas, Argentina.

Encarnacion, capital of the department of the same name, is situated on the Alta Parana River, 230 miles from Asuncion.

Paraguay. It is a population of about 35,000, and is the center of a rich agricultural and grazing district. It produces tobacco, hides and timber.

A ferry connects Encarnacion with the Argentine town of Posadas, just across the river Parana. Encarnacion was established by the Jesuits in 1614.

Many agencies—Federal, State and fraternal—were pooling their efforts in relief work. The American Red Cross alone had raised nearly $100,000 to succor the homeless and injured, and other agencies were supplying funds for rehabilitation of the devastated region.

Medical and food supplies were being rushed to the east coast from Miami, Hollywood and other cities. Food supplies were going in large quantities, but the West Palm Beach chapter of the Red Cross sent out an urgent appeal for tents, coats, blankets and other necessities.

Airplanes carrying antitetanus and antiphosphorus serums were rushing to the storm area in the hope that epidemics might be avoided. Through most of the district sanitary conditions were reported as bad, particularly in the inland regions. These were damaged by the storm as it swept across La Chorrera and on to the west coast, where many lives were lost and property and crop damage estimated at $10,000,000 was caused.

London Embassy Attaches Escape Air Crash Death

CATERHAM (Surrey, Eng.) Sept. 21. (AP)—Two American Army officers attached to the Kenley airfield for instructional purposes had remarkable escapes from death this afternoon when their plane crashed and burst into flames.

The officers are Lieutenant-Commander Robert A. Burg, assistant attaché for naval aviation at the American Embassy in London, and Major Clarence L. Tinker, assistant attaché for military aviation.

Their machine, an American De Havilland 4, somersaulted after striking trees near Caterham, and landed only a few yards from the edge of a chalk pit 200 feet deep.

As the wreckage burst into flames, Maj. Tinker, the pilot, managed to scramble clear and extricate his companion. Both were taken to a hospital.

MILLION GIVEN FOR RELIEF

Call for Further Immediate Help Broadcast by Red Cross After Survey of Florida's Needs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. (Exclusive)—A statement issued by the national headquarters of the American Red Cross indicated that contributions to the Florida disaster relief fund aggregating well over $1,000,000 have been received by local chapters of the organization throughout the country.

Late advices received at Red Cross headquarters tonight from field workers in the hurricane district of Florida emphasize the immediate need of funds for relief and rehabilitation work. While no calls for food supplies have been received in the last twenty-four hours, appeals for trained workers to co-ordinate relief activities have been received from Red Cross chapters and chambers of commerce in several stricken communities.

National Red Cross headquarters called by long-distance telephone late tonight with Dr. William R. Beal, medical adviser to the vice-chairman of the organization, who now is in Miami and will manage the charge of the medical relief work. Dr. Beal covered the section on the east coast from Pompano to Miami today. He estimated the injured in that area at 4000. Of this number, he said, 1000 are seriously injured.

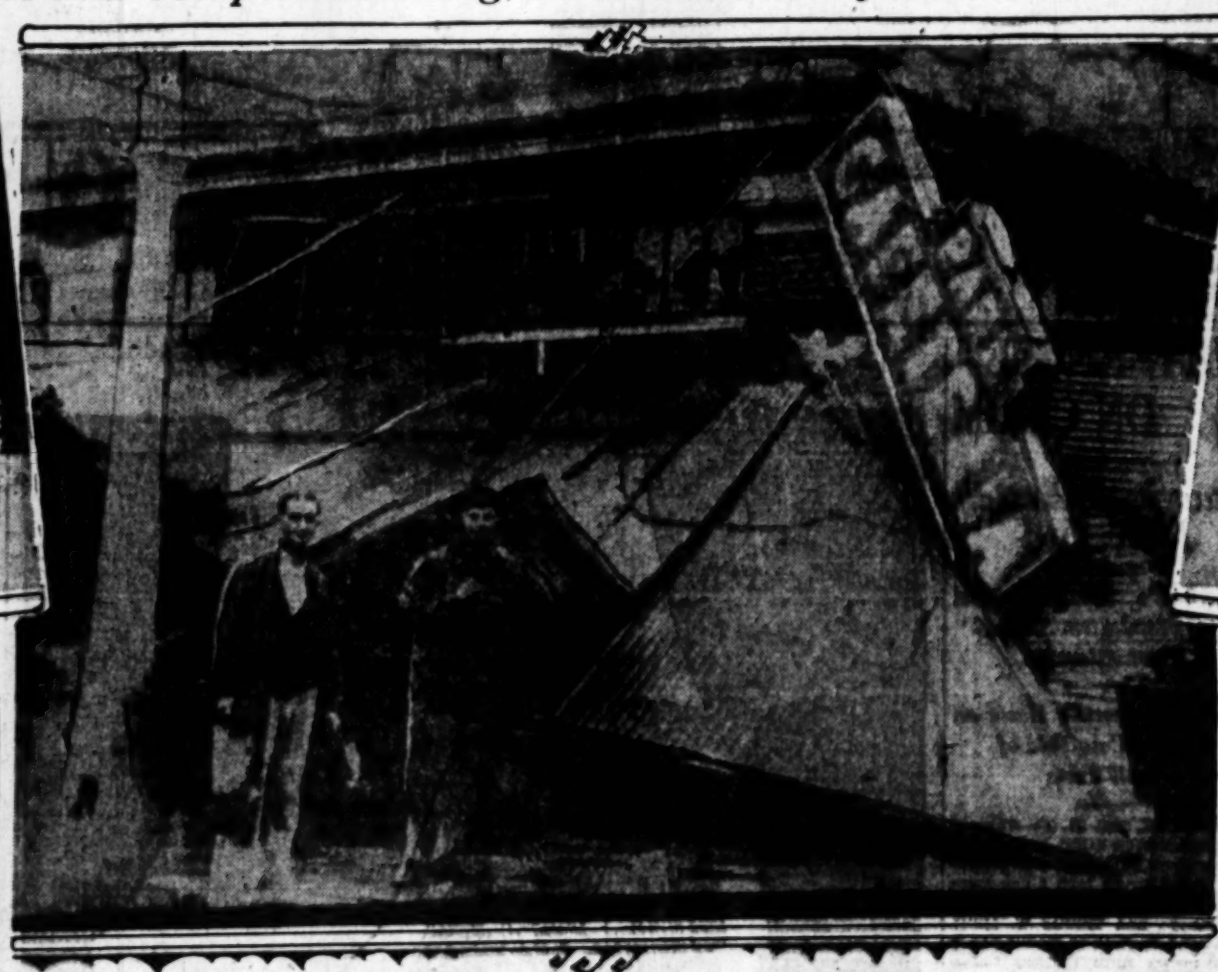

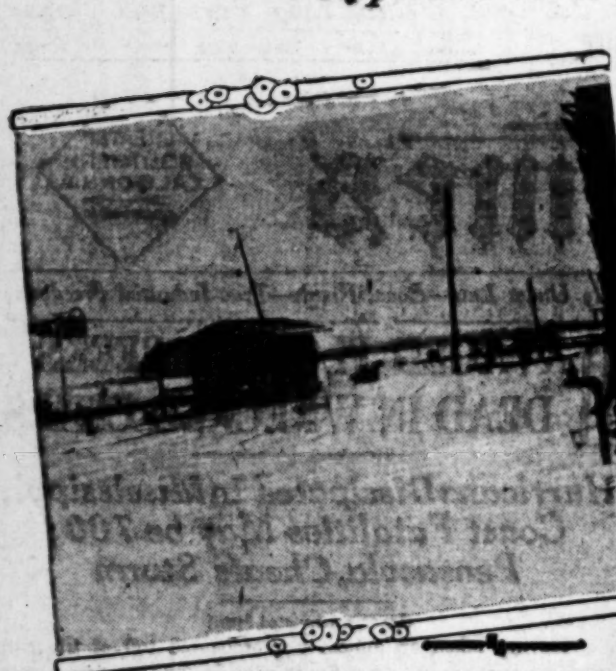

In response to an appeal for quick assistance, the Red Cross has wired $10,000 to the Chamber of Commerce of Sebring, Fla., which, pending the arrival of Red Cross workers, has undertaken to direct the relief of its own victims, as well as the town from Clewiston and Moorehaven.

Telephone Wires and Airplanes Bring First Pictures of Hurricane's Ravages in Florida

FLORIDA DEAD EXPECTED TO REACH NEARLY 700

Property Damage Running Heavy; Pensacola and Mobile Escape Great Loss in Hurricane

able to continue their northward journey.

The outgoing stream was almost matched by an incoming deluge of relatives of residents of the storm-swept district who were seeking direct word as to the fate of loved ones. As a result, roads down the coast were congested.

Proportionately, some of the inland towns suffered even greater damage than did those in the "playground of America" facing the Atlantic and the full fury of the hurricane's first blast. Mobile, however, practically was wiped out as was Fort Lauderdale.

The dead at Moorehaven were placed at sixty-one with the search for bodies still in progress, while the total dead at Fort Lauderdale was given as eleven with 100 injured. Parts of the town still were under water and rescue workers believed many bodies remained in wrecked homes or in near-by waters.

Refugees gave vivid pictures of conditions in Miami when the storm was at its height.

One declared streets were impassable and that wrecked houses and trees lay everywhere.

Amputees dashed about, taking the injured to hospitals. During the time, according to this refugee, the air was literally full of debris borne before the 100-mile gale. Sometimes whole roofs of houses could be seen flying by.

A large construction barge was washed up directly in front of the Royal Palm Hotel, from which the roof was torn by the wind. A large private yacht was lifted from its moorings and flung almost on the steps of the McAllister Hotel.

GULF COAST MAKES SURVEY OF ITS LOSSES

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21. (AP)—Some loss of life and property and crop damage estimated into the millions resulted along the Gulf Coast from the tropical hurricane which veered northward from Southern Florida and centered across the western tip of that State and Lower Alabama before spending its full force late tonight in Southern Mississippi.

Pensacola, which was cut off from communication with the outside world for more than twenty-four hours after the hurricane, blowing 100 miles an hour had struck it, did not suffer any loss of life, but there was heavy property damage, according to brief direct communications established late today.

A telephone line was repaired to Mobile and over this a report was sent out telling of the escape of the residents of the city. Previous reports from railroad clerks had said that there had been some loss of life in Pensacola and that railroad tracks had been washed out for some distance north of the city. The message described the destruction of the railroad's depot and other property north of the city and estimated that it would be two days before the trains could get through.

VESSELS DAMAGED

The Coast Guard cutter Tallapoosa, which rode out the blow in Pensacola Harbor, reported to the naval station here by radio that many vessels in the harbor were damaged but no details were given.

Mobile the largest of the Gulf cities visited by the hurricane, suffered property damage estimated at several hundred thousand dollars, but dispatches said there had been no loss of life and no reports of persons seriously injured. Property losses consisted chiefly of unroofed structures and consequent water damage to stocks of goods in business houses and to residences.

Mobile, the largest of the Gulf cities from 5 o'clock Monday morning until midnight Monday night, with the greatest wind velocity at ninety-four miles an hour. The barometer reading was the lowest in the fifty years of the Weather Bureau station there.

Trees and telephone poles were blown down, making streets impassable and throwing some 3000 telephones in the city out of order. Communication with the outside world also was cut off, until this afternoon, when dispatches were sent through direct line.

Surveys now are under way to determine the extent of damage to small villages along Mobile Bay and in the interior. There were unconfirmed reports of some loss of life at Jackson and Bay Minette, Ala.

Pensacola, Mississippi suffered heavy damage, but there was no loss of life. Charles Farrar, special agent of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, reported. Property losses, he said, in Jackson county, Miss., will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, principally to the peach crop.

The cotton crop in Southern Alabama was reported to have been outside of Mobile there were no reports of damage to shipping or the fishing fleet which was on the numerous bays and inlets along the Alabama and Mississippi coasts.

MANY THOUSANDS LEFT WITHOUT HOMES

MIAMI, Sept. 21. (AP)—At least 400 dead; 180 or more others missing; 5000 injured and 50,000 homeless—this was the known sum tonight of human life and suffering in states and towns along Florida's southeastern coast in the tropical hurricane.

At Miami the death toll increased as Biscayne Bay gave up more of its dead. Authorities said the list probably will reach 500, although it was around 200 tonight. Hospitals and Red Cross stations here treated more than 3000 injured during the day, many of them only slightly hurt.

At Hollywood the list of known dead was thirty-two with positively eight other bodies to be brought in and with seventy persons listed as missing. Earlier reports had included many of the missing as definitely dead and the total had been announced as seventy-five known dead. It is believed now that many of those missing died in the interior when the first hurricane approached and while many possibly perished, it is regarded as more likely that they were only injured. The injured from 2500 listed at Hollywood to 300 of them were located and treated. A score or more at Hollywood were listed as seriously injured.

Fort Lauderdale's death list remained at eleven during the day, but the list of seriously injured increased to 300 as the interior sections were reached and the victims brought in. Of the seriously injured, probably a score will not survive. There are 500 others less seriously hurt in the Fort Lauderdale, Ft. Lauderdale and Progress neighborhoods. The Red Cross relief stations were crowded with injured and refugees.

Reports from other localities indicated little change in the death list, with the exception of Diana and Davis, both of which reported several additional bodies having been located, but which could not be removed until high waters receded and broken trees were removed and tangled underbrush was cut away. The injured from these sections continued to increase.

The threat of sickness and possible epidemic which threatened yesterday as the result of lack of sanitary drainage and sewage methods was dispelled today by the arrival of additional relief trains bearing necessary medicine, antitoxins and badly needed chlorine, lime and formaldehyde.

BIMINI ISLAND REPORTED DEVASTATED

MIAMI, Sept. 21. (AP)—Reports reaching here today indicate the island of Bimini, 125 miles from Nassau in the Bahamas, was devastated by the tropical hurricane.

The reports that Bimini had suffered severely were confirmed by crew members of tugboats which arrived here today from that vicinity. They did not attempt to land or check for dead or injured.

Reports have been made repeatedly that the storm had been in the Bahamas was heard but not clearly. It was learned then, however, that only property damage had resulted there from high winds and waves.

GRAND TURK (Turk's Island, Bahamas) Sept. 21. (AP)—Four thousand persons are homeless and great property damage has been caused on Turk's and Caicos Islands as a result of the recent hurricane which swept from the West Indies across the State of Florida.

The central picture above shows wreckage to a business building in the central portion of St. Petersburg in the storm of Saturday and Sunday. Other pictures show portions of the city inundated by high water. These pictures were forwarded from Florida to New York by airplane, from New York to San Francisco over the wires of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and from San Francisco to Los Angeles by the regular mail plane.

Wind and Water Lay Cities Low

MIAMI (Fla.) Sept. 21. (Exclusive)—Miami's skyline still stands above the water of Royal Palm Park, where seaweed and boats and broken cars are strewn, the tall structures that have arisen in the last year of magic growth of this city, look proudly today upon the blue and shining water. The downtown section is doing business today. Workmen are busy in new and old skyscrapers. The stores have pumped out their basements, dried their waterlogged stocks and opened their doors. The streets are cleared of debris and alive with traffic.

Restaurants are open and serving food at normal prices. There is a limited supply of power for water.

There is water in the mains, but in quality is questionable. And wire service is being restored swiftly. Business men declare that this optimistic and optimistic report will rise above the hurricane wreck greater than ever. This is the brighter side of the picture.

GIANTIC TASK

The city has before it a gigantic task of recovery. All the hinterland, the suburban country, such as Miami Beach, Hialeah, Coconut Grove, Hollywood, where the structures were seriously built for a warm climate, is ruined. The great need is in money. It is stated by the relief authorities, money to keep on feeding the homeless and to help them rebuild. An urgent problem. Sanitation is causing anxiety and the Surgeon-General has been appealed to to send an expert. Some of the streets in the north-west are still under water. The Miami River along Third-street street was lifted 15th mile from that level were washed out upon roadways and in front of homes.

TO STAND ALONE

"We felt we would not need the assistance," Mr. W. E. Wilson, in charge of relief, said today. "We certainly trust those well-intentioned persons will not take affront at our refusal to accept that which we don't believe we will need and will administer to us for standing alone in our calamity and carry out our every effort to help ourselves before appealing to the outside world."

Fifty thousand dollars in gold came in from Jacksonville this morning. The great need is in money. MOORE HAVEN DEATH TOLL INCREASED

MOORE HAVEN (Fla.) (Via Fort Myers, Fla.) Sept. 21. (AP)—The total of known dead in this village, which was the scene of a terrible disaster, after completing a recount, that sixty-seven bodies have been shipped to Sebring and Citrus Center for burial. These figures included the known white dead but do not take into account the negro dead, which, the Mayor said, "will probably never be known."

Mayor Smith believes that when the missing white residents are finally accounted for the total may be 125. He said there may be as many negroes added to the death toll.

Many of Moore Haven's missing, the investigation shows, are children. As to adults it is held possible that some of the missing dead to Fort Myers and which, the Mayor said, will be accounted for later.

Red Cross relief workers are arranging transportation for many homeless residents to Sebring where a hotel has been leased. Moore Haven officials are pessimistic that the town site might never be re-established, asserting that the town there has been completely wiped out.

Gifts of Money Received at Des Moines Reception Put Silver Lining in Cloud

DES MOINES, Sept. 21. (AP)—The Grand Army of the Republic regarded its outlook for the coming year as bright tonight at the annual reception, for the organization was $2700 richer as a result of gifts received at this event.

The Women's Relief Corps presented a check for $1000 "to use as they saw fit," and the ladies of the O. A. R. gave them $500. From the allied organizations attending the convention came the remainder of the $2700.

The reception and fireworks on the lawn of the Capitol completed the play day of the encampment, the entire time having been given over to the old-fashioned square dances.

But while the men were thus entertaining themselves or enjoying the sun on the benches along the streets, the auxiliary organization of women were busy in the kitchen, preparing to finance a large tablet which the O. A. R. is to place in Arlington Cemetery at Washington, containing the names of the Civil War soldiers who died in 1908, establishing Memorial Day.

The women also decided to place in every State Capitol a similar tablet bearing the same inscription.

Flo Jamison Miller, secretary of the organization, called on the delegates to be patriotic in the country. She condemned the spreading of propaganda and placed on Charles Carleton Beals, for most of this work, "Gardner," said Mrs. Miller, "inherited a fortune and turned it all over to radical organizations that they might further their cause."

TO STAND ALONE

"We felt we would not need the assistance," Mr. W. E. Wilson, in charge of relief, said today. "We certainly trust those well-intentioned persons will not take affront at our refusal to accept that which we don't believe we will need and will administer to us for standing alone in our calamity and carry out our every effort to help ourselves before appealing to the outside world."

Fifty thousand dollars in gold came in from Jacksonville this morning. The great need is in money. It is stated by the relief authorities, money to keep on feeding the homeless and to help them rebuild. An urgent problem. Sanitation is causing anxiety and the Surgeon-General has been appealed to to send an expert. Some of the streets in the north-west are still under water. The Miami River along Third-street street was lifted 15th mile from that level were washed out upon roadways and in front of homes.

MOORE HAVEN DEATH TOLL INCREASED

MOORE HAVEN (Fla.) (Via Fort Myers, Fla.) Sept. 21. (AP)—The total of known dead in this village, which was the scene of a terrible disaster, after completing a recount, that sixty-seven bodies have been shipped to Sebring and Citrus Center for burial. These figures included the known white dead but do not take into account the negro dead, which, the Mayor said, "will probably never be known."

Mayor Smith believes that when the missing white residents are finally accounted for the total may be 125. He said there may be as many negroes added to the death toll.

Many of Moore Haven's missing, the investigation shows, are children. As to adults it is held possible that some of the missing dead to Fort Myers and which, the Mayor said, will be accounted for later.

Red Cross relief workers are arranging transportation for many homeless residents to Sebring where a hotel has been leased. Moore Haven officials are pessimistic that the town site might never be re-established, asserting that the town there has been completely wiped out.

CIVIL WAR VETERANS ENDOWED

Gifts of Money Received at Des Moines Reception Put Silver Lining in Cloud

DES MOINES, Sept. 21. (AP)—The Grand Army of the Republic regarded its outlook for the coming year as bright tonight at the annual reception, for the organization was $2700 richer as a result of gifts received at this event.

The Women's Relief Corps presented a check for $1000 "to use as they saw fit," and the ladies of the O. A. R. gave them $500. From the allied organizations attending the convention came the remainder of the $2700.

The reception and fireworks on the lawn of the Capitol completed the play day of the encampment, the entire time having been given over to the old-fashioned square dances.

But while the men were thus entertaining themselves or enjoying the sun on the benches along the streets, the auxiliary organization of women were busy in the kitchen, preparing to finance a large tablet which the O. A. R. is to place in Arlington Cemetery at Washington, containing the names of the Civil War soldiers who died in 1908, establishing Memorial Day.

The women also decided to place in every State Capitol a similar tablet bearing the same inscription.

Mexico Asks to Transport Troops Across Border; Fight on Yaquis After New Battle

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 21. (AP)—The Foreign Office announced today that Mexico had requested permission of the United States government to allow the transport of Mexican troops across United States territory for the purpose of fighting the Yaqui Indians.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. (AP)—While the presence of Mexican troops in American territory has been permitted in the past as a measure of assistance to the Mexican government in dealing with revolutionary outbreaks, there is no established American policy on that regard. Presumably, the presence of Mexican troops in American territory would be considered on its own merits.

Previous instances where Mexican troops have traveled by rail, precautions have been taken to see that there was no subordination on route. The troops in every case, as under American military escort.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 21. (AP)—Few visitors to Mexico City see President Calles within twenty-four hours after their arrival, but the visiting oratorical contestants did so. Jose Munoz Costa, winner of the Mexican contest, on his return to the country; Herbert Wenig of Los Angeles, American winner; Herbert Moran, Canadian winner; and William Newton, winner of the British contest, were received by the President at noon in his private office in the National Palace.

Antonio Vargas, director of the Mexican contest, expressed regret that Randolph Leigh, director of the international contest which takes place at Washington October 18, had been forced to change his plans and remain in Washington. He had advised Senator Vargas by cable that he would accompany the students on their

ANCIENT HEBREW RUINS FOUND

LONDON, Sept. 21. (AP)—Ruins of the first Hebrew settlement in Palestine after the parting of Abraham and Lot have been discovered near Nabulus by the International Archeological Expedition headed by Prof. Ernest Sellin of Berlin University, says a dispatch to the Daily Express from Jerusalem.

The excavations revealed, among others, the walls, gates and towers of the city where Abraham built the altar to sacrifice Isaac and where Jacob buried his idols and where, according to tradition, Joseph was buried, there also were found the remains of a Canaanite temple and Baal images.

Since their arrival yesterday evening the students have been showered with attention by local educational bodies and committees from schools and universities have called on them and sending welcome.

The Secretary of Education conducted the students to Chapultepec Castle, which they inspected when they found President Calles gone to his office. They were then conducted to the National Palace where the President received them at once. He expressed pleasure in meeting them and wished them success in future life. Wenig replied, expressing the

WENIG TAKES DONKEY RIDE

Wenig en route, at the station of Empalme Gonzales, missed his train while admiring strawberries sold by the natives, and, partly walking and partly riding on a donkey, went to Celaya, hoping to catch another train for Mexico City. As he found he would have to wait too long, he returned to Empalme Gonzales riding three hours on a donkey. He arrived safe and pleased at his adventure the morning, twelve hours behind his companions.

The entertainment program for the students, who will return to the United States next Monday, includes official participation in the celebration Saturday in commemoration of the anniversary of the National University, oldest institution of learning on the American continent. An open air feast has been prepared in their honor by the students of the National Preparatory School.

This evening the students will serenade the visitors, giving a snake dance, parade and other similar affairs in the principal streets.

DENVER (Colo.) Sept. 21. ELECTRIC CONTRACT
VOTED BY BAY CITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21. (AP)—The electric power contract between San Francisco and Modesto irrigation district, voted last week by Mayor James Rolph, Jr., was repeated over the Mayor's veto early today by the Board of Supervisors. The vote was 15 to 5 and the contract, an all-night discussion of the contract. The contract, drawn up under the terms of the Baker Act, provides that the city shall supply the irrigation district with steady service up to 3000 kilowatts a month at a price of 4.7 mills per kilowatt. In voting the measure Mayor Rolph contended that the price was greatly inadequate and that the city was placing itself in a position to lose as much as $200,000 a year.

BELGIAN PRINCE BETROTHED

Leopold's Engagement to Princess Astrid Hailed
Joyously by His People as Love Match

BRUSSELS, Sept. 21. (AP)—A real love match soon will give Belgium a Crown Princess. King Albert and Queen Elisabeth today gave to the press word of the engagement of their son, Prince Leopold, 24-year-old heir apparent to the Belgian throne, and Princess Astrid, the 20-year-old daughter of the Duke of Västergötland and niece of King Gustavus of Sweden.

News of the engagement also was made public in Stockholm.

Belgium today was aglow with enthusiasm over the royal match, due partially to the popularity of the young Prince and partly by the fact that the union was brought about by the natural play of affections instead of cold reasoning in the way that state marriages so frequently have been arranged.

CALLS IT LOVE MATCH

His Majesty, in an interview with representatives of the press, paid warm tribute to the accomplishments of the Princess. "The Queen and myself," he said, "expect the marriage to be a happy event for both dynasties and peoples. The Princess was brought up in great simplicity in a country much like ours and will doubtless soon feel fully at home in Belgium. Their marriage is entirely one of inclination. The Prince and the Princess met several times before her visit last month to Clermont-Ferrand. They are setting in complete liberty and independence, making their decision without interference from anybody."

The only difficulty encountered in the engagement was the fact that Prince Leopold is a Roman Catholic and Princess Astrid a Protestant. The usual agreement, however, was reached, whereby the Princess has pledged herself not to interfere with the rearing of any children of the marriage in the Catholic Church, although she will remain within her own religion.

The marriage will be performed in Brussels at the Cathedral of Sainte Gudule, probably by Archbishop Van Rooy, whose mensural may be raised to the cardinalate.

PRINCESS CAN COOK

The betrothal is most popular with Belgian housewives who have learned that the young Princess knows how to cook. One story that is being told is that Princess Astrid, learning that Prince Leopold was fond of snail salad, which is a popular dish in Belgium, prepared a dish of salad with her own hands when the Prince visited Stockholm. There are a good many other stories of the Princess's domestic skills.

The young Prince, who will be 25 on November 3, is quite as demure as in his sentiments as his father and likes to have a glass of the popular Belgian beer while sitting like ordinary citizens at a cafe table. He is an accomplished sportsman, prefers football to other athletic sports and is fond of motorcycling, fishing and hunting. Like his father he is serious minded and pays sharp attention to public affairs, being well up on finance and other questions of the day.

LENN RUSSIA'S IMMORTAL

Soviet Leader's Body Carefully Preserved and Viewed by Thousands in Moscow

MOSCOW (Russia) Sept. 21. (By Mail)—Lennin dead seems to be playing a more placid and influential part than Lenin alive. Not a voice is now raised against him. He is already enshrined as one of the Russian immortals. He seems to be the George Washington of the soviet. His spirit has been canonized and his body embalmed more humanely and successfully than were the bodies of the Egyptian kings. Besides, instead of sepulchre in a buried tomb, he lies exposed to view as natural as in life. This has been said and repeated many times in print and it is one of the statements that has not been exaggerated.

Russia is mystic and in Lenin's case something has been done that appeals to the star mind. Reputedly preserved at enormous expense for scientific experiment and wisdom, Lenin's body lies as if in peaceful slumber. His color is natural. His features are unmarred and his recumbent pose normal. First there was ordinary embalming as known to the funeral directors of all lands. This preserved the body while the more permanent processes were sought. Several months were required and at last a perfect result was announced. Three years have elapsed and fifty years, it is asserted, will bring no change, with possibly periodical chemical treatments.

BODY VIEWED

It was a cloudy night with occasional showers, characteristic of Moscow weather in August, when a group of American correspondents and college men went to see Lenin. His body is exposed to all who care to look from 8 to 9 in the evening—an hour when the cool temperature approximates the temperature which this live dead man requires for his present term of existence. He lies in a glass canopy in a mahogany-colored wooden mausoleum in front of the Kremlin, the historic fortress-palace of the czar and the seat of the soviet patriarch. The body is to be replaced with a stone structure befitting the accredited permanent residence of its sole occupant. We presented ourselves at 7 o'clock with a special permit that was not honored by the guard until 8 o'clock, but did give us a position at the head of the waiting line.

Before 7:30 o'clock there were thousands in waiting, and this goes on night after night. The double line was three blocks long by 8 o'clock, standing close and no one yielding his place. The throng was composed of young people, but there were some mature persons, and occasionally an old woman with shawl-bound head, or a bewhiskered patriarch. Respectful silence and curiosity prevailed, with evidence of emotion occasionally. Fluttering over the Kremlin was the red flag of the Union of Soviet States, illuminated by concealed lights and beautiful in color even to the eye of those who do not subscribe to its significance. The Red Square, a vast cobblestone plaza in which stands the place of execution erected by Ivan the Terrible, was crowded with people besides the long doubled-up organized stream line. An iron rail surrounded the flowery inclosure in which the tomb is placed. Red army guards in varied shades of khaki paced up and down inside the iron fence trailing their guns, watchfully and menacingly, lest any one trespass by leaning over the fence.

At the appointed hour the guards unlocked the padlocked gate and bade us enter. There was no rush or

LAWYERS TERMED INTEMPERATE
Roosevelt Says Warfare on Evils Goes Too Far
Antiprimary Fight and Dry Legislation Cited
Low Respect for Authority Laid to Hasty Acts

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 21. (P)—Intemperance of action against a known evil has begotten many of America's gravest problems, Theodore Roosevelt declared today at the tenth annual convention of the Exchange Club. He cited agitation against the direct primary and the adoption of the national prohibition amendment as instances.

"The resentment of the people," he said, "at the abuse of the primary, as evidenced in Illinois and Pennsylvania, is tending to carry us back over the road we have traveled to the re-establishment of the convention system. Other wrongs, we sweep from one mistake to another."

EMOTIONAL ACTS
"Such as even more startling examples of intemperance of thought in the righteous emotion that resulted in the national prohibition amendment and in the Volstead Act. Our people were shocked by the evils of intemperance of the corner saloon, and of approaching this matter in a careful way, we let our emotions get the better of us. We placed in the national Constitution a summary law through which we are urged to carry out the spirit of the law and that 'if we Americans lose our respect for law the republic is doomed,' he continued."

METHOD
"I believe the most practical method of eliminating the danger that threatens the country is to modify or repeal the Volstead Act and substitute for it some enactment raising the alcoholic content to the highest point permitted under the Constitution. Delimitation thereafter should be left to the States who can regulate the alcoholic content to any point desired." He declared that as long as the prohibition law remains on the statute books it must be enforced.

The logical and common-sense thing in antiprimary agitation, he continued, is to find some practical ground to preserve the virtues of the convention but check its vices. He advocated enactment in all States of drastic corruption-practice acts, limiting both primary and election expenditures.

The murder charge was sworn out after Robert Lham, a chemist, had reported unofficially poison had been found in organs of the elder boy's body.

County Attorney Boatman said he has information the estate of Buster Hamilton, amounting to several thousands of dollars, chiefly in life insurance premiums, has been claimed by his foster mother.

COURT "SHOTS" FAIL TO WORRY TEX RICKARD

Action Based on Action Taken in Philadelphia to be Given Hearing by Philadelphia Jurist Today

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21. (AP)—The heaviest legal battle which the Dempsey-Tunney fight has yet been subjected to was fought today. Firing from legal bulwarks reached a new stage today, with the court "shots" being directed at the fight as promoter Tex Rickard and Billy Gibson, manager, by the two outstanding foes of the champion, the champion's former manager, and B. C. Chicago promoter, who is fighting to sustain the fight's contract to match Dempsey and Harry Wills.

Dempsey Camp Torn Down as Training Ends

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 21. (AP)—With guards stationed at the gates, barring admittance to all outsiders, Jack Dempsey today drew the veil of secrecy around his final workout for the defense of his world's heavy-weight championship against Gene Tunney in Philadelphia, Thursday night.

It became known, however, that the champion shadow-boxed two rounds, drummed the light bag for two rounds and drove punches into the heavy swinging bag for a round. Then he called his sparring partners into his dressing room and bade them all a fond farewell.

Dempsey's light workout and his four or a half-mile jaunt over the roads this morning, were designed, his handlers said, merely to keep his highly-tuned muscles loosened.

"I am ready," Dempsey said after the workout. "I feel great today. I am about on edge now. Tomorrow, I will just get up out of my bunk and probably take a morning walk. I am completely fit."

There are always swings one way or another in these championship fights and the swing

EXPERTS TO REPORT BIG FIGHT FOR "TIMES"

The Times will be represented at the Dempsey-Tunney world's championship ring mill at Philadelphia tomorrow by writers who know the fight game from A to Z.

GRANTLAND RICE, whose vivid, colorful stories of big events have made him the most-talked-of sports writer in the United States, WESTBROOK FEEGLER, who sees something humorous, something funny in every move made by the gladiators, the promoter and the public, BENNY LEONARD, undefeated lightweight champion of the world, who will describe the battle from a technical standpoint, and tell how it was won or lost.

CHARLEY EYTON, veteran referee (retired) of Los Angeles, who has seen every heavyweight fight of importance since the days of John L. Sullivan. His analysis of the battle will be closely followed by thousands in this city, where he refereed many championship fights years ago. In addition there will be color stories, statistical stories, analytical stories, etc., by the staff of ASSOCIATED PRESS veterans, men who have seen all the big fights of the past ten years or more. No detail will be left uncovered.

His Nose Knows

JACK'S EYESIGHT IS SO GOOD, IT IS SAID, THAT HE CAN READ THE LABEL ON A RECORD AS IT IS BEING PLAYED.

JACK DEMPSEY MUST WIN IN A HURRY OR BLOW UP IS CONSENSUS OF FISTIC FANS

PHILADELPHIA, (Pa.) Sept. 21.—The peculiar public psychology which has worked itself into something approaching a craze over this fight has now reached the acute stage.

It is a matter of fact that a large number of travelers are already beginning to arrive from Los Angeles, Hollywood, San Francisco, Chicago, St. Louis and Boston where Billy O'Brien makes the statement that at least three or four outside cities are sending more spectators to the battle of the Sequoyia than New York.

No official score was kept but somebody's tally sheet showed that the Trojans had put over five touchdowns while their rivals were unable to shove the leather under the shadow of the U.S.C. goal posts.

The scrimmage was a good one to watch as both teams put a lot of stuff into their work. "Fox" Stanton's charges go north tomorrow night to tackle Stanford in one-half of a double-header to be played on the "Farm" while Howard Jones's boys open up against Whittier in the Coliseum. There were plenty of substitutions and everybody got plenty of work.

As is the custom in the Jones scheme of things, the quarter-backs did most of the ball carrying, with Morton Kner and Don

ANGELS CLOUT ACORNS TWICE

Krugs Open Crucial Series With 14-4, 1-0 Wins

Crandall Bests Craghead in Nightcap Mound Duel

Oaks Now Twelve Full Tilts Behind Loop Leaders

BY BOB RAY

If this series between the league-leading Angels and Ivan Howard's second-place Oaks is to be a "crucial" one, some one should hurry up and inform Marty Krug's athletes of the fact before it's too late.

All the Seraphs did yesterday was to bowl over the Acorns in both ends of a bargain bill, winning the first two games of the eleven-game program by 14-4 and 1-0 scores.

The Angels are now twelve full games ahead of the Oaks and if the Acorns are to leave this fair city with the hopes of a Coast League flag waving in their respective minds, they will have to grab about eight or eight of the remaining nine tilts, which is a Herculean task—and it is a well known fact that "Mark" passed on some years before St. Louis won its last pennant. However, the boys will be at it again today in another twin bill, the first game getting under way at 1:30 o'clock.

Marty Krug's hirelings made the opener a walkaway, hanging out seventeen assorted hits off of the offerings of Joe Oeschger and his successor, Pudgy Gould.

"Old" Krug gave way in the sixth with the score 6 to 4 to let Doug Tuttle bat for him because he began to look a little shaky.

Four runs in the same round to see the contest, but Krug sent in Doug Wright anyway. Doc hurried a couple of rounds and then let "Pee Ridge" Day pitch the ninth.

CRANDALL IS VICTOR

The second game was a mound duel between Doc Crandall and Howard Craghead, with the Seraph veteran getting the verdict over his youthful opponent because he didn't allow a run. Doc was in a couple of tight spots during the seven innings, but a double play engineered and executed by Johnny Mitchell pulled him out of the hole on one occasion, while on the other the most prominent clutch

MITCHELL EASY FOR LOCAL BOY

Mushy Wins Seven Out of Ten Rounds at Vernon

Boxer Who Made Milwaukee Famous Loses Decision

Antonio Stops McGovern in First Round of Semifinal

BY PAUL LOWRY

Mushy Callahan, ex-newsie, this morning finds himself the proud possessor of a nice little gold and diamond-studded belt and the junior welterweight championship of the universe. He beat Pinky Mitchell of Milwaukee for these prized symbols of the ring in a gripping, stirring battle at Vernon last night, and thereby became the second titleholder Los Angeles has crowned in the past year.

The first was Fidel La Barba, the flyweight titleholder, and Callahan moves into king row alongside of the former Lincoln High School boy.

Both the belt, said to be worth 3000 bucks in the coin of the realm, and the 140-pound title came into existence back in 1923, and they have been the property of Mitchell until last night.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

Mitchell lost his laurels fairly and squarely. He went down with colors flying, and there was absolutely no question about the verdict of Referee Duke Keworthy. Callahan captured seven of the ten rounds, two went to Mitchell and one was even.

It was a real beat-man battle, and after the boys got through feinting one another out in the first round there was a real war on. Even after Keworthy had called a halt to the fight, the boys were still going at it.

The blow caught the champion squarely on the point and he was smashed clear from Callahan's corner over into the opposite corner. It was a horrible belt, but Mitchell staggered up gamely and not only weathered out the round but called on every last ounce of his reserve to beat back the onslaught.

Once before Mitchell had gone to the canvas and the last round knock-down was really unnecessary. It was like adding insult to injury. Callahan could have coasted in the last two rounds and still, won the night.

Coach Stanton Sends Engineer Varsity Against Jones's Charges in Snappy Scrimmage

Going at it vigorously for more than an hour the University of Southern California and Caltech football squads scrimmaged at Bovard Field yesterday afternoon.

No official score was kept but somebody's tally sheet showed that the Trojans had put over five touchdowns while their rivals were unable to shove the leather under the shadow of the U.S.C. goal posts.

The scrimmage was a good one to watch as both teams put a lot of stuff into their work. ### LEONARD PICKS DEMPSEY

Benny Says Champ Will Win by a Knockout Over Tunney in Six Rounds or Better

BY BENNY LEONARD

Undeclared Lightweight Champion of the World

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 21. (Exclusive)—Jack Dempsey will win by a knockout over Gene Tunney in six rounds. If Dempsey is lucky with his punches, he will win in one or two rounds.

Should Dempsey hurt his hands, first hard wallop—that is, if they don't land an inch too high, or are not a fraction of an inch too short or too long, and he gets a fair percentage of them over, then the bout will end in one or two rounds.

The third contingency I've mentioned, at the outset, the bout going the limit, even if Dempsey should hurt his hand, would come about in this way:

KEPT ON DEFENSE

Dempsey would cut and maul and bull his way to victory. He would make use of his extra weight and strength and would wear down his man in the clinches. He would even hit with his arms and wrists, and his broken hand. He would keep Tunney on the defensive.

While I do not look for a foul-out, it is usually an accident anyway—still Dempsey is such a wild man when it comes to shooting his

Both National League Leaders Lose; Cleveland Cops

ROBIN RALLY
TRIPS CARDS

Boston Again Triumphs Over Cincinnati Reds, 4-0

Jess Petty Twirls Dodgers to Win Over Cards

Pirates Slide Down Ladder Again; Lose, 7-2

BROOKLYN, Sept. 21. (AP)—After holding the Robins scoreless through seven innings, the Cardinals came from behind with a four-run rally to beat out the league-leading Cardinals, 4 to 0. The Cardinals pushed across two runs in the ninth.

As Cincinnati lost its fifth straight game to the Braves today, St. Louis retained its two-game lead over the Reds on the coast.

Trailing by three runs in the ninth, Douthett opened the final frame of the Cardinals with a single. Holm belted for Southworth, flying out to center. Douthett's double drove in Douthett and Hornsby took third on Carey's fumble. Bottomley lined to Herman, who tried to catch Hornsby off third. His throw went over Marriot's head and McInnis scored. L. Bell popped to Marriot, retiring the side.

Brooklyn came from behind with a four-run rally in the eighth, knocking Sherdel out of the box with two hits, three on the bases and none out. Alexander, who went to Sherdel's rescue, was tagged for two more hits before the side was retired.

RYAN RETAINED
BY SACRAMENTO

SACRAMENTO (Cal.) Sept. 21. (AP)—Lewis Moring of the Sacramento Coast League club, announced today that Buddy Ryan will be retained as manager for the local team during the 1937 pennant campaign. It will be Ryan's third season as manager of the "Senators."

This year has been the best financially in the Coast League history of the city. Ryan had his club in second place for many weeks and the brand of baseball played on the home grounds, which attracted record attendance for the season here, is held responsible for his reappearance.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21. (AP)—Cleveland had no difficulty winning from Boston today, 6 to 1. Uhl pitched his 26th victory and held Boston to four hits, the Red Sox being saved a shutout by Rosenthal's homer over the right-field wall.

Ruffing's wildness in the first inning allowed Cleveland to score twice while his ineffectiveness and poor support permitted three more in the third. Both Wetzel and Hartley, who followed Ruffing, were ineffective.

RABBIT
PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

WHAT becomes of the old athletes is answered in the case of Ernest (Ink) Wieman, a former great football and track star at Occidental, by the announcement that he is leaving on a flying trip for Mesopotamia this month to scout a new oil field for the Turkish Petroleum Company, an English concern. His headquarters will be about 300 miles from Baghdad, which was more or less in the limelight as a point of dispute during the late World War.

For years after graduation from the Tiger institution, where he shone brilliantly as an athlete, "Ink" was employed by the Union Oil Company, then started an oil-field equipment business of his own in Hollywood, leaving to accept his new position. He was one of the most powerful tackles that ever played on Occidental, a potent punter, and enjoyed the rare distinction of playing six years on Occidental's team—1903-1910. This was due to the fact that in the old days there were no eligibility rules barring prep or freshmen, and "Ink" attended both Occidental Academy and College. With Fred Thompson, later the all-around champion of the world, "Ink" shared hurdling honors on the track. He was also a powerful weight man. He was the second of the great line of Wieman athletes at Occidental. Henry was the first and "Ink" was followed by Bruce, then Taylor. Another brother, Tad, is fielding H. Yost's chief assistant at Michigan.

CALLAHAN WINS OVER MITCHELL

Callahan won the fight because he was faster than the Milwaukee boy and packed a meaner wallop in his right hand. Mitchell scored with long straight lefts and left hooks to the head, but his right was almost useless as a weapon of attack.

Musky never let him get inside with it, and continually Mitchell was looping it about the local boy's neck.

In just one round, the sixth, which was Mitchell's big round, he was able to do any damage with his starboard dapper. Then he feinted Callahan open with lefts and looped a couple of rights to the chin. The rest of the time he was overshooting with it.

Callahan took the first round, which was mild, and Mitchell dived in the second. He played left to Musky when he got the range of the Mitchell chin with his right hand. The fourth round stirring contest. First Callahan was ahead with rights to the head, then Mitchell took the play away with straight lefts and finally Musky came back with right to the stomach and a right to the head almost simultaneously. The eighth, for hours was Callahan's when he dropped Mitchell momentarily with a right to the head.

Both the ninth and tenth were full of action, and Callahan grabbed both by his stomach and head tactics.

The crowd was estimated at 7000 persons.

The semi-wind-up ended in spectacular fashion. After Nick Antonio had taken the count of nine from a right-hander to the chin he came back with a liver punch that knocked Mitchell down for keeps.

Im. 19s. of fighting in the first round. The other bouts resulted as follows: Eddie McPherson defeated Eddie Gieson in six rounds; Benny Miller defeated Romeo Laviole, four rounds; and James Laventhal won from Baby McKee in four rounds.

FISH INDUSTRY HOPES REVIVED

Pledges Given by American Commissioners

Spirit of Co-operation Rules at Conference

Mexico to Get Plea for Cut in Export Tax

Pledges of the two American members of the International Fisheries Commission to appeal for a reduction of Mexico's $300 export tax to $15 were met by promises of 100 per cent co-operation and conformity to regulations of both countries by representatives of 3000 fishermen, canneries and wholesalers at the harbor yesterday.

The "love feast" was held at the commission's new offices in the Consulate Building in San Pedro in the forenoon, before Commissioners Thomas O'Malley, director of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, and J. E. Leon, representing the Mexican commissioners, who will carry the request to the Mexican government.

The joint commission will meet again in Mexico City in late November, when the request is expected to be carried to President Calles or the national legislature, if the tax has not been slashed by presidential decree before then.

Mr. O'Malley also gave cheering reassurance to the local representatives that there appeared nothing to fear from the new Mexican law, which treats subjecting American boats to Mexican jurisdiction outside the three-mile limit. Many boats from American waters have been reported seized and fined for fishing within fifteen miles of Mexico's shores and the situation was rapidly becoming embarrassing to the United States.

Believed to be the result of a misunderstanding of the treaty on the part of the Mexican officials.

Fishermen also voiced objection to Mexico's charge of $135 for bait permits and it is believed this also will be increased by the negotiations with the Mexican government.

That Mexican sentiment also is in the favor of the United States can be seen from the fact that the American fishermen will comply with the spirit of their law, also was the consensus of opinion at the opening session of the conference.

It was in the past, "the fishing industry could not have survived."

RARE SITUATION AT HUNTINGTON

Unusual Phenomenon Appears in Mile Projects

Use of Pipe Below First Zone Found Unnecessary

Simultaneous Production at Two Levels Possible

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The possibility that the well in the west end of the city of Huntington Beach may get production from 1000 feet of oil zone is indicated by the showings of the Mile Petroleum Exploration Company's Pacific Electric No. 4 well in that field, and also by the showings of the Pacific Electric No. 2. Both of these wells have drilled a successful water shut-off above the first zone, and are drilling into the oil sand in the second with the probability that the wells may be completed without setting any more pipe except an oil string. This means that it will be possible for the wells to produce both from the first and second zones simultaneously, which is quite a rare phenomenon due to the fact that a rule water-bearing sands are found intervening between oil zones.

The Mile Pacific Electric No. 2 is the deepest of the wells, being down 853 1/2 feet, with eleven-inch pipe set at 326 1/2 feet. At present the well is preparing to make a test, the plug being pulled out five feet below the shoe of the casing.

Pacific Electric No. 4 may be completed in about 1000 feet. This well is drilling ahead at 3537 feet with eleven-inch water string set at 2994 feet. It is understood that Mile drilling officials expect to take the well to about 4000 feet, which will give it about 1000 feet of formation to produce from, about 200 feet of which is oil-bearing sand and shale.

The Mile Petroleum Exploration Company is also deepening its Pacific Electric No. 1 well, which is now down 3272 feet. This well was on production in the upper sand.

Gets Second Well

Bringing in its Barrett No. 1 well in the Poco Creek district with an initial production of about 200 barrels a day on the pump, the Union Oil Company has completed the second well in this field which was opened up several months ago by the Shell Company with its Veder No. 1.

The new Union well is not important as far as extending the proven area is concerned, owing to the fact that it is distant only 500 feet from the discovery well, but the well is located on a 400-acre tract which the Union owns in fee. One location west of the Barrett No. 1 Union has staked a location for its Mack No. 1, but the well has not yet started drilling.

Drill New Acreage

FLORIDA WILL NOT FALTER

Nature's destructive hand has many fingers and strikes, rips and tears without notice or provocation. Mauritius is the breeding pen of the tornado, the Chinese Sea is infected with typhoons, North Africa turns loose the suffocating sirocco, the hurricane hides among the tropical isles of the Atlantic, the cyclone cuts uncharted swaths through the Mississippi Valley, overcharged clouds send rivers out of their courses to flood the homes and farms of valley dwellers, the temblor lurks along unseen faults in the earth's crust, the volcano blows off its head. Universal laws render these manifestations inevitable.

The southern half of Florida is the latest sufferer from the ravages of forces beyond the skill or science of man to alter or control. From the Bahamas to the Gulf of Mexico a West Indian hurricane has swept the peninsula from the Keys to Palm Beach and Tampa, leaving in its wake hundreds of dead, thousands of wrecked homes and property losses running into millions. The progressive and beautiful city of Miami bore the full fury of the tempest.

How heavy the toll and how terrible the destruction at the present time it is impossible to compute. But sufficient news has come through from the devastated area to emphasize the dire need of immediate relief. While the whole nation hopes that closer investigation will mitigate the first impression of wholesale ruin, no State, city or community will wait on the order of giving, but will respond to the call of help with the alacrity characteristic of America when sudden misfortune visits any section of our common country.

Though man cannot avert the cause of catastrophes, such as the one that has so ruthlessly stricken the fair State of Florida, man can and does achieve a victory over nature by bending the combined energy of heart and brain and muscle to the restoration of the damage wrought and to the alleviation of the suffering and distress among the victims of the fury. And in so doing man proves the divine heritage that placed him a little lower than the angels to crown him with immortality.

Whatever the last total of the losses suffered by the people of Florida, that total will be balanced by the activities of her sympathizers. Only before the biers of her hallowed dead will America stand helplessly, a passive mourner.

Already the forces of restoration are mustering. Doctors, nurses, engineers, hospital aids, the National Guard to keep order, organized benevolence to collect funds—and in the van the ever-ready and never-failing Red Cross Society. The sudden emergency will be met and coped with intensively. Later will come the slower and steadier work of complete repair of the material damage and the clearing up of the debris of the storm.

Florida will not falter. To pause along the path of progress in the face of fierce and undeserved tribulation is an attitude foreign to the American spirit. Florida will march on to her destiny as an integral part of our glorious galaxy of States. Other American communities have suffered setbacks from flood and fire and earthquake and tempest. In every instance these communities have risen superior to their misfortunes and have built more solidly and more vigorously in the vision of better things to come.

There need be no doubt or misgiving as to the future of Florida. The State will require outside help to stave off the pressing and immediate needs of her citizens in the first days of disorder and destruction. In due course Florida will travel again on her own power. At present her sister States stand ready with all the temporary assistance she may require to meet her sudden emergency.

Chicago was not destroyed by the great fire; Charleston and San Francisco sprang to new life from the shock of the temblor; Dayton shook off the setback of an engulfing flood; Imperial Valley conquered the levee broken by a furious river; the people of West State have succumbed to the passage of the cyclone; Florida will not flinch at the fury of one West Indian hurricane.

But generous and immediate help is absolutely necessary that this brave and stricken State may recover from the first effect of a stunning blow. And first and foremost among those ready to strain every nerve to set the splendid southern commonwealth on its feet again will be her sister State of California.

It has been said that only those who have suffered know how to sympathize with suffering; but that is not always true. Los Angeles has been fortunate in that it has never suffered from devastating forces of nature. It has never been swept by a furious cyclone, never experienced more than slight loss from conflagration or earthquake. Never has it seen so afflicted as to necessitate outside assistance, but no place on the earth's surface is absolutely immune; and we are mindful that "pride goeth before destruction." Although never the recipient of foreign aid, Los Angeles yields to no other community in offering first aid to communities in distress, suffering from disaster that it was not within human power to prevent.

COMPULSORY VOTING

A few American political economists who have been examining the new system of compulsory voting adopted by Australia and its results are recommending the plan for this country. They say that as we have imported from that continent so many ideas in regard to ballots and elections, most of which have worked out well, despite occasional abuse, we might as well include the new plan of making all eligible voters go to the polls and do their obvious duty, which so many of them have been sadly neglecting of late years.

In Australia the man or woman who is privileged to register and vote and does not do so is fined $10 for non-registration or non-voting. The law went into effect before the last national election, and it is doubtful whether any legislative body in a civilized country ever has been chosen by so large a proportion of the qualified voters as the present Australian House of Representatives. Final returns showed that in that election 91.62 per cent of the males on the register and 90.99 per cent of the females voted. At the last general election in this country less than 55 per cent of those registered participated in the balloting, while of those eligible for registration and voting only 48.15 per cent voted. The percentage of males was 55.25 and of females 46.74.

A comparison of the Australian and American percentages makes it clear that as between compulsory and non-compulsory voting the latter plan results in a much poorer showing. All that remains to be settled is whether or not the idea of making an eligible voter who does not vote is acceptable to the majority of the people of a country like ours to whom the word "liberty" still means so much, despite the fact that there has been less and less of it during the last fifty years.

To many of our citizens the idea of having to do anything under compulsion is repugnant, and to some of them it is abhorrent. When it comes to the matter of voting it would seem that less than half of them are willing to waive the privilege or find it inconvenient to avail themselves of it. Ask the average non-voter of the male persuasion why he did not vote, and he generally will say that he did not have time, or that he was absent from his precinct on election day. Few will confess that they did not register, although few could honestly say that they did not have time to do so or would make the excuse that they were absent during the whole term of registration. Yet these doubts would be the very ones who would most loudly protest against the enactment of a law which made non-voting a punishable offense. The man who votes regularly would not find the law so repugnant, but even he might reasonably be expected to complain of its severity. As for the women there is no doubt that compulsory voting would swell their percentage as electors. It might even be greater than that of the men. But who doubts that they are available against the enactment of such a law as much, if not more, than the men? The thousands of anti-suffragists among them would clamor for the repeal of what they would term a most unjust act.

poorer showing. All that remains to be settled is whether or not the idea of making an eligible voter who does not vote is acceptable to the majority of the people of a country like ours to whom the word "liberty" still means so much, despite the fact that there has been less and less of it during the last fifty years.

But who doubts that they are available against the enactment of such a law as much, if not more, than the men? The thousands of anti-suffragists among them would clamor for the repeal of what they would term a most unjust act.

And yet what is to be done? In a republic where, in election after election, less than half of those eligible to vote exert or employ the franchise, what can be done to induce the others to do so? If compulsory voting is not to be adopted in this country—and it seems unlikely that it ever will be—what other system can be made available? The answer is nothing but the arousing of such a sense of public duty as shall result in a greater personal interest in elections. To this end our social and political leaders and educators must bend their most strenuous efforts. Voting must come to be less a perfunctory and negligible act and more a matter of conscience.

Most universities train students to tune up their engines for high speed and efficiency. Tests and training are given in mental alertness. The sluggish are weeded out.

It remained for New York University to establish a course in the prevention of accidents. Whatever may be said concerning some things the rah-rah boys are taught, here is one subject that will commend itself to the most practical.

Industrial accidents show an increase ranging from 5 to 50 per cent. There has been a startling increase in home and street accidents. Most accidents are preventable, says Arthur Williams, president of the American Museum of Safety.

The methods for preventing accidents have become standardized, he says, and it is the object of New York University to give details concerning these methods. Safety engineers and public safety directors are to be developed.

Companies and communities that care have succeeded in reducing the number of accidents from 25 to 75 per cent.

Of the $4,000 deaths and 2,000,000 injuries received and the loss of more than $1,000,000,000 resulting from accidents in 1932, fully 10 per cent could have been prevented without additional equipment or mechanical guards.

This would seem to be a verdict rather than news. Carelessness is a crime. The World War was a mere bagatelle for America compared with the loss of life and maiming of men in preventable accidents.

An accident that could be avoided needs a judge more than a teacher. Keeping the feet out of traffic and the hands out of cars may be more important than gazing at the stars for the vast mass of people.

If some disease swept off $4,000 people a year in a country its cure would be the search of scientist and altruist. Wheels are more deadly than germs. Carelessness carries off more than contagion.

Wars last a decade; but accidents carry on forever. If all the blooming idiots could be sentenced to take a course in New York University the editors would have less to talk about and more people would have limbs and lives.

RATS AND NICOTINE
Physiologist Hazel Field of California University is reported to be experimenting with rats and tobacco. She is trying it on rats to ascertain its effect upon humans.

Just why it is necessary to resort to rats, with so many humans puffing around, report does not say. Rats and men may have many qualities in common.

The regulation clay pipe and standard Pennsylvania leaf tobacco were used. It appears to have been a trifle difficult to get the rats to function with the pipes in the ancient and accepted manner; so men were employed to manipulate the little bowls and permit the smoke to drift through the traps.

That the rodents exhibited none of the symptoms "similar to small boys behind barns" interested the investigator. They were not afflicted with nausea and seemed to have a quinine of conscience.

The rats "jumped and squeaked." So the inference that tobacco stimulates and does not depress were drawn.

However, our recollection of boys behind barns is that they neither jumped nor squeaked. From some strange cause they lacked enthusiasm.

The billboard artist tells us at every turn that tobacco soothes and pacifies. Man sits at the fireside dreaming with his hand under his chin, tranquillized by the influence of a halo of smoke.

On the other hand, the lady expert asserts that the weed makes you jump and squeak. And from her ratiocination with rats it would almost appear that old pipes are engines of power.

Between the rats and the small boys there is too much room for argument. Possibly the rats lack human nature; or it may be the boys are without rodent susceptibility. As it may even be that if the rats kept up the habit for months until a tolerance were developed a pipe might be necessary after cheese.

Second-hand smoke from some old pipes is likely to make even a rat jump and squeak.

THE HOOP SNAKE

By James J. Montague

The hoop snake did not have to crawl or wriggle, writhe or squirm at all. When he embarked on tours or trips, He took his tail between his lips

And thus a spokes-like wheel became Whence comes, of course, his curious name. Or hunger or by fancy led O'er hill and dale he lightly sped.

A mode of travel far more fleet And easy than to walk on feet. Most people would be well content If they could roll where'er they went

Without the jolts and bumps and jars Of railroad trains and motor cars. Or the fatigue to which they're put When they're compelled to go afoot.

But they and all their kin and kith Are something more than just a myth, Which ought to comfort them because That's all the hoop snake ever was.

Some people don't mind work and some do, and that's one reason we have jails.

It must distress some people a great deal when they can't think of anything to lie about.

At any rate, to multiply knowledge multiplies sorrow for those who live on suckers.

It nearly always happens that a man picks out a lower type than his wife to flirt with.

Well, why shouldn't the gals in leg show be called artists? They draw well.

Go Slow with Iodine

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] What Dr. Tarrantine, the Washington chemist, says about the curative value of iodine probably is near enough the truth to be of value as a testimony to its virtues. However, there is nothing very new in what he reports, as iodine has been used by physicians for many years and for many maladies. Goiter is susceptible to treatment by it and so are other glandular diseases. But I am afraid that this powerful agent is going to come into too frequent and indiscriminate use—that the public will be rushing to drug stores and dosing itself regardless of possible results.

Among the evil effects of a too liberal dosage of iodine are stomach and heart complications. While taking it for goiter one may at the same time contract chronic indigestion, along with distressing heart symptoms. Sallow wastes are also long-term dangers of even small quantities of iodine may result in dry catarrh.

Before beginning a course of iodine one would better consult a reputable physician. Quacks have prescribed it for years as a short-cut remedy and have done irreparable damage to human organisms in this way.

Protests Against Road Project

MONTEREY, Sept. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The latest frame-up against our landmarks is the plan to destroy the primitive scenery in the heart of the National Monument country, including the historic and beautiful Carmel's Bridal Chamber and the Promenade. It is in this district that the history of the generations of primitive man is written. The caves were the strongholds of the noted California bandits. Of the great mountain Capt. George Vancouver said it was the most remarkable he ever saw—that he gazed upon it with silent awe and wonder and he observed the unique scenery of the vicinity—all in glorious ruins near the seashore—with great archaeological interest. Millions of years they have been there, and now the roads and land ratters of San Benito and Monterey counties are about to build a forty-foot wagon road right through the heart of the monument.

America as a "Sucker"

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am enclosing a cartoon from a Hearst paper showing Uncle Sam being asked to become "the sucker of the League of Nations." It seems to me that the real question is, if America is to be a sucker, is it better to be a sucker for the League of Nations or for the League of Nations? Far better to be on the inside where our influence can be used effectively and we can see what is going on than to be out in the cold and dark.

Hearst claims to be a sucker in their wars. But we were drawn into the great war and there was no League then. Let's co-operate for peace. All isolated methods have failed.

A Wet Argument

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] If the Volstead law is not designed to control the personal habits of citizens with the idea of making them "good" or, at any rate, better than they are, then what is it intended to do? No doubt your correspondent, Mr. H. J. Thompson, will classify me as one of those who have not "the intelligence of a goose," but I claim that my view of the Volstead law is evidence of a higher degree of intelligence than his when he classifies Volstead legislation with the law against "murder, arson, forgery, etc." One cannot imagine Christ committing any of the latter crimes, but were He down here now, say, at a "dry" wedding festivity and repeated His wine-making miracle,

PSYCHING THE
PSYCHOANALYST
AND FINED
FOR TOTO

BY ALMA WHITAKER

The psychoanalysts have been along with confidence for quite a while. Their numbers have multiplied amazingly. They have made it exceedingly probable that they are doing something. And, of course, it is an interesting study—this human mind, its inhibitions and its possibilities, its mysteriousness, its rise to the distinction of its own courses without previous or opposition. Its way has been attractively easy.

But, now that this power is coming apparent and the analysts are putting forward greater claims to superior knowledge and influence, there are signs that it will soon have to justify itself.

The first rumblings arose from recent British medical journals in London. Dr. L. A. Pury reported upon. And, in the course of a discussion on the psychology of psychoanalysis, the subject of its general application upon it. And that investigation and report were voted.

Moreover, in Vienna, Pury's own stronghold, the subject is also being aired with a money. Our American Court, against a Dr. R. K. R. of Pury, for "treating a mentally deranged American according to psychoanalysis without being a physician." Now this Dr. R. K. R. is recognized as an expert by himself.

Freud is quoted as recommending that psychoanalysis be not medical, but an independent science by itself whose end is the right of treating patients. The Viennese medical profession, however, is anxious in its test against this point of view. In the meantime Dr. R. K. R. is forbidden by the authorities to practice psychoanalysis any longer. The law against "quack" has been invoked against him.

If this can happen to an acknowledged high priest of the cult, accepted international expert, it is readily seen what trouble brewing for the smaller practitioners who rush in with valor of ignorance and a superficial study. And the cities of the world are full of—and Los Angeles has a large quota of them.

The people who accept psychoanalysis as a sort of superior frequently become passionate devotees. But every cult has its fanatic devotees, who set faith above all other considerations. But it is obvious that the professional psychoanalysts, which vites mentally disturbed persons to come and unburden their souls to talk about themselves and to write down their thoughts to confess all their weaknesses, omissions and commissions, in order to their innermost desires, and to their most secret fears, physical positions, and the value of ignorance and a superficial study. And the cities of the world are full of—and Los Angeles has a large quota of them.

It is the judgment of the psychoanalysts that is so important. If that judgment is not balanced with superior knowledge, honesty, profound wisdom, free scruple, the power of evil is appalling. Here they are unregulated by any law, and set themselves up as prophets, psychologists, sometimes as sketchers of knowledge and ways minus any official training and standing—saying in many cases to the duty of patient, philosopher and friend. The type of mind that feels capable of solving its own problems. And they are making a most extraordinarily profitable business of it. Clients abound. They get higher fees than men in professions that require years of training and specific degree examinations before they can practice.

Now some psychoanalysts are reasonably well-educated persons. But not one of them answers the exacting requirements of superior virtue and wisdom required of anyone having or ill over the power for good or evil over the fellow-human—and mostly the unbalanced, out-of-balance fellow-man, at that!

Of course, they maintain that by clearing the air, releasing inhibitions, making the patient face the issues involved, that they can rebuild character, correct mental quirks and set the patient on the right, proper and successful road. But some of these psychoanalysts confuse their own telling and clairvoyance with the art of palmistry and astrology. Some throw in—because of numerology thrown in—because of the fact that between all the sun and one wants to give client his money's worth.

I should say that for every psychoanalyst there are ten quacks, high-minded, scrupulous, honest, who consider their crafters who consider their crafters a profitable "chick." There isn't any method or way of the prospective client outside of the own instinctive judgment. And the client that goes to a psychoanalyst is already doubting his own judgment.

Altogether it is high time that one got busy and psychod the psychoanalysts.

An Insect Traps
"What has become of your insect?" inquired a friendly neighbor. "He met a terrible fate," answered the other. "Those house flies poured themselves all over the insect." "But he liked house flies," "Yes, that was the trouble," answered the first. "He was gorged himself with them and then died with a lightning bug."—Transcript.

OUR HISTORY IN PICTURES

THE SUCCESS OF THE EXPEDITIONS OF 1585 TO CAPTURE STRATEGIC POSITIONS ON THE ATLANTIC COAST OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES LED THE UNION GOVERNMENT TO ORGANIZE ANOTHER ONE TO SEIZE ROANOKE ISLAND, WHICH WAS THE KEY TO TWO SOUNDS PROTECTING A LARGE PORTION OF NORTH CAROLINA AND AN IMPORTANT SECTION OF VIRGINIA.

515 Burnside's Expedition to Roanoke Island.

THE EXPEDITION GATHERED IN HAMPTON ROADS UNDER THE COMMAND OF FLAG-OFFICER LOUIS M. GOLDSBOROUGH. THE LAND FORCES NUMBERED 16,000 MEN, DIVIDED INTO 3 BRIGADES UNDER GENERALS FOSTER, RENO AND PARKE. ABOARD 40 TRANSPORTS, SEVEN ADDITIONAL GUNBOATS ALSO FORMED A PART OF THE MILITARY DIVISION.

THE FLEET SAILED ON JANUARY 11TH FOR HATTERAS INLET, TO THE SOUTH OF ROANOKE ISLAND. LIKE THE PRECEDING EXPEDITION IT HAD THE ILL FORTUNE TO BE CAUGHT IN A WILD STORM OFF THE COAST OF NORTH CAROLINA IN WHICH FIVE OF THE SHIPS WERE WRECKED ON THE SHORE AND MANY LIVES LOST.

IT WAS NOT UNTIL JANUARY 15TH THAT THE REMAINING VESSELS HAD REACHED HATTERAS INLET. SEVERAL DAYS WERE SPENT IN PREPARATION FOR THE FLEET ADVANCED THROUGH PAMUNCEY SOUND TOWARD ROANOKE ISLAND. TOMORROW—THE BATTLE OF ROANOKE.

These daily history strips make a unique pictorial history of America. Hundreds are clipping them daily and pasting them in scrapbooks.

ADMITTS KILLING OVER RIDICULE

Full Confession Reported in Belvedere Murders

Husband and Wife Found Dead Inside Front Door.

Suspect's Oversensitiveness Asserted Unjustified

Because he "couldn't stand to be laughed at," John Sprale murdered his neighbor, Homer E. Ranes, official of the Belvedere Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Ranes last Monday night, according to the implication contained in a statement made yesterday by J. P. Lucka to Deputy Sheriff Croushorn and Hackett. Sprale is in the County Jail and is said by the officers to have made a complete confession of the two murders. The inquest will be today. Lucka's statement declared he was talking with Mr. and Mrs. Ranes on the lawn of their home in Belvedere

John Sprale

Gardens when Sprale, with whom Ranes is said to have had several quarrels, passed on the opposite side of the street and entered his own house. At the time the Ranes and Lucka were laughing, Lucka said, at a joke he had mentioned. "After the murders that night Lucka said he went to the Sheriff's station, confronted Sprale and asked what he meant 'by doing this'." "Sprale answered," Lucka said: "You ought to know. You were over there with them laughing at Sprale also told Lucka, according to the latter's statement, that after dinner that evening Ranes had called out to him across the street and had ridiculed his appearance. "I just couldn't stand that kind of treatment any longer," Lucka declared Sprale said. Mr. and Mrs. Ranes were found shot to death just inside the front door of their home.

CHILD GIVEN FATHER BY COURT WRIT

Riverside Resident Wins Daughter After Showing Decree from Idaho

Floyd Seawell of Riverside yesterday won the court action he instituted against his former wife, Mrs. Ruth Seawell of Glendale, to regain the custody of his 12-year-old daughter, Henrietta, when Judge Keeler granted his petition for a writ of habeas corpus directed against Mrs. Seawell. According to Seawell, he was given the child's custody by the Idaho courts in 1920, with the provision that Mrs. Seawell might see the girl at certain times. Seawell stated the child had been in his possession until August 18, last, when he permitted her to visit Mrs. Seawell at the latter's home in Glendale. Seawell stated that on the 19th inst. he had demanded that his former wife return Henrietta to his home but Mrs. Seawell failed to comply with his request, he added. Acting on the decree of the Idaho courts, Judge Keeler ordered the child delivered to Seawell.

Court Upholds Ord's Title to Strip of Dunes

The Supreme Court in a decision yesterday upheld the title of John G. Ord to a strip of thirty acres of sand dunes near Anaheim Landing, Orange county, ratifying a similar judgment of the Orange County Superior Court. Ord obtained a patent for the land from the United States Land Office on January 13, 1916. Subsequently, the State of California, contending that the land was tidal accretion and not under Federal jurisdiction, denied it to E. W. Holliman, who sold it to the Alamitos Land Company. The Superior Court held that the land was not tidal accretions and sustained the United States patent.

POISON-PEN PLEA FUTILE

Probation Denied Life Threatener Because "Pal" Has Served Term for Crime Already

Probation was denied Frank Sergio, 35 years of age, convicted life-threatening letter writer, yesterday by United States District Judge McCormick on the ground that Jack Randow, codefendant, had served his term of two years and that it would be unfair to the man who already had paid proportionate penalty. Sergio and Randow were convicted for sending two letters, one demanding $25,000 and another asking for $25,000, to F. W. Baum, wholesale druggist, at San Marino four and one-half years ago. A first effort to trap them by passing an envelope containing blank papers behind a billboard was futile, but a subsequent snare landed the quarry. Randow was sentenced immediately after the trial and began his term, but Sergio's Slavonic friends provided bond and appeal money to fight the case. The Circuit Court of Appeals declined to honor Sergio's plea for new trial.

ELABORATE START FOR NEW HOUSE

Screen City Residents Will Help Dedicate Big Westlake Theater

The West Coast Westlake Theater, Alvarado at Sixth, opening in gala array tonight, will have an auspicious start—its officials of the West Coast Theater, Inc., and the West Coast-Bernstein circuit are prophesying. Under the direction of Gore Brothers and A. L. Bernstein this organization expects to lend every assistance for the premiere opening and dedication, but also the continued maintenance, operation and control along the lines of highest theatrical caliber.

The dedicatory program includes the premiere local showing of "Other Women's Husbands," released by Warner Brothers. Monte Blue and Marie Prevost, who were last seen together in Ernst Lubitsch's "Kiss Me Again," are again united in this comedy-drama of the American type. They have the support of Phyllis Haver, Huntley Gordon and John Patrick.

A Fanchon and Marco variety "idea" featuring Renie Riano, the star of the "Music Box Revue," Frank Stever, Radiohead's baritone, Arline Langham, Fanchon and Marco's youngest protegee, and Percy Branson and Edith Evans, courtesy Miller's Lafayette Cafe, is announced as the stage element for the inaugural program. Charlie Nelson and his Playboys have been secured for an indefinite engagement at this playhouse.

Lew Cody, screenland's latest benefit, has been secured to act in the capacity of master of ceremonies. Included in the list of cinema celebrities who, it is said, will appear in person, are: Belle Bennett, Russell Simpson, John Patrick, Mae Murray, June Mathia, Alice Day, Marceline Day, Charles Ray, Lewis Stone, Roy D'Arcy, Hunt Stromberg, Mack Sennett, Jack Hoxie, June Marlowe, Pat O'Malley, Lois Todd, Bryant Washburn, Lige Conley, Phyllis Haver, Warren Kerrigan, George Pawcett, Laura La Plante, Shirley Mason, Lloyd Hamilton, Larry Bernon, Dorothy Dwan, Albertia Vaughn, Adrienne Dore, Claire McDowell, Ben Alexander, Gladys Hulette, John Roche, Hedda Hopper, Holmby Hiltz, Louise Dresser, Robert Bosworth and Kathleen Key.

Orpheum Star Not Particular About Details

They say that famous pianists are exceptionally particular about just what they sit in or on while playing—in fact it has been said that they are so particular in that respect that Alfred Mirovitch, the Russian pianist making his first vaudeville appearance at the Orpheum, says they are not.

"I have met great artists who demanded certain kinds of chairs, I remember one lady who would sit upon nothing but a plain kitchen chair, and a gentleman who preferred a high stool covered with material closely resembling a carpet bag," says Mirovitch.

Mirovitch himself has a leather-footed, spring four-legged chair with screws that adjust the height which was presented to him by a piano company and which he uses at all concerts.

"It is very comfortable," says the pianist, "and wanting to be comfortable is certainly not eccentric."

Does Presence of Mere Males Restrains Tears?

Pauline Frederick is closing her long and successful engagement in "Madame X" at the Playhouse on Saturday night and the season of weeping will turn into a season of laughter when the "Cradle Snatchers" comes into the same theater.

It is no secret that audiences come to Miss Frederick's performance of "Madame X" to weep. The farewell matinee on Saturday will be for women only, according to an innovation Mr. Malcolm wants to try out. The matinee are made up almost entirely of women and Malcolm has an idea that a sprinkling of "mere men" has a restraining influence upon an audience of women who come to cry. However, the box office cannot refuse to sell tickets to men, but the Saturday matinee will be "for women only" as far as the term can apply.

Who is costared with Monte Blue in "Other Women's Husbands." This is the first attraction at the new West Coast Westlake Theater which will be accorded a brilliant opening tonight.

Margaret Mayo Farce Follows 'Onion' Comedy

Arthur Freed announces that he has just signed a contract with Margaret Mayo and Aubrey whereby they will produce a brand-new play which the above authors just finished this week, entitled "Loving Ladies." This play will be presented at the fringe of the run of "Know Your Onion."

Margaret Mayo will be remembered by Los Angeles theatergoers as the author of "Twin Beds," "Baby Mine," "Marie Antoinette," "Poly of the Circus" and other stage successes. Kennedy will personally direct the production of "Loving Ladies." At the present time Freed is looking over the available actors and actresses for the leading roles for this farce.

Freed is giving another "Onion matinee" at the Orange Grove this afternoon. Anyone presenting a bag of onions will be given one seat free, provided they also purchase another ticket. The onion thus collected will be given to the Minnie Barton Home for Children.

Former Stars of Vaudeville Score Success

Michael Corper's new team, Murray and LaVere, received one of the biggest ovations yet accorded any star or feature in "Monkey Business" at the Majestic, according to Ole Olson, who is costarring with Chic Johnson in the musical revue.

The two jax-manics, instrumentalists and vocalists, became permanent fixtures in "Monkey Business" when Michael Corper definitely signed them following their first appearance in the Majestic show last night.

Murray and LaVere appeared here on the Orpheum circuit several weeks ago after having spent a successful season under the B. F. Keith management. Chic Johnson negotiated a deal for Mr. Corper for the appearance of the couple in "Monkey Business." Their act proved to be such a hit that the producer immediately secured their signatures to contracts requiring them to remain in the revue for the duration of its engagement.

Championship Fight Returns Will be Given

Loew's State Theater is installing a direct wire to the Sequoia National Stadium at Philadelphia, where Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney will fight for the championship of the world Thursday.

By special arrangement, the fight will be broadcast from the stage of the theater, blow by blow and round by round, without a second's interval between the actual event as it takes place in Philadelphia.

In addition, Fanchon and Marco have planned a program of entertainment for the fight fans who are expected to crowd Loew's State as they did during the Dempsey-Tunney fight. At that time, Loew's State was packed by an enthusiastic crowd of boxing fans.

PENCHANT FOR FOREIGN

Edwin Carewe must have a weakness for foreign element in his business activities. First he discovers and signs on a long-term contract Dolores Delaney, the Mexican film beauty. Now he has signed Count Ilia Tolstoy, eldest son of the Russian novelist, who will assist him in the production of his father's novel, "Resurrection." One of these days we may hear of Carewe's bringing Count Hayakawa back to Hollywood, adding another to his list.

Anglin-Bates Company Will Share Theater

The Margaret Anglin and Blanche Bates co-star engagement at the Philharmonic Auditorium from the 27th inst. to October 3, will be interrupted for the two evening performances of Thursday and Friday. Margaret Anglin will give a lecture the night of the 30th inst. and Mr. Bates will give a concert the evening of October 1. However, the Anglin-Bates company will give two extra matinees on the afternoons of the 30th inst. and of October 1 of "Candida," the satirical comedy by George Bernard Shaw.

"Candida" gives both "stars" opportunity to show their histrionic ability, as Miss Bates plays the role of "Prossy," the secretary to Rev. Morrell, husband of "Candida," which gives her every opportunity to display her talents as a character actress. Miss Anglin plays the title role of the faithful but suspicious wife.

Miss Anglin and Miss Bates and the company will be in the Auditorium for the evening of the 30th inst. and October 1, but for a change will be in front of the footlights instead of behind them. They have already engaged seats for the recent lecture and the Tibbets concert.

Records Fall in Engagement of Jazz Leader

A prophet may not be without honor in his own home town, but not so a jazz leader!

Paul Whiteman, monarch of jazz, who made his first musical success in Los Angeles, according to the theater management, proved the most popular attraction ever shown at the Million Dollar Theater by breaking all existing records there in the first few opening days of his engagement.

The orchestra leader is said to run the musical gamut from exquisite symphony to jazz of the hottest type. His theory is that jazz should be based on symphonic arrangements and the majority of his arrangements early in this idea. An example is the new Viennese number, which Whiteman is presenting here for the first time. It is called "When Day is Done" and is proving one of the big hits of the show.

Thomas Meighan in "Tin Gods" is the photoplay attraction on the same program.

New Prologue Will Also Have Kosloff Troupe

Theodore Kosloff's troupe of dancers headed by Kosloff's "Flower," has been one of the highlights of Jack Laughlin's colorful prologue "Voiga," with Cecil B. De Mille's "The Volga Boatman," which is now in its nineteenth and final week at the Carthy Circle Theater.

These dancers, trained by Kosloff, have been re-engaged by Fred Miller for Mr. Laughlin's "surprise" prologue "Les Magnifiques," which is to be a feature of the world premiere of John Gilbert's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-King Vidor production "Bardeley's Magnificent," which occurs Wednesday evening at the Circle.

The artists have been in rehearsal under Mr. Kosloff and Mr. Laughlin for several weeks and those who have watched the feature develop declare that their new numbers for this prologue will be most startling.

DIRECTOR INVADERS FREE-LANCE FIELD

GADE CONSIDERS OFFERS ON COMPLETION OF "THE BLOND SAINT"

Final scenes of "The Blond Saint" having been filmed yesterday, Svend Gade, who directed this first Metro picture for Sam Rort, in which Doris Kenyon and Lewis Stone are featured automatically becomes a member of the free-lance field.

Having recently abrogated his contract with Universal after a mutual and friendly understanding, Gade now keenly anticipates the freedom, which will permit him to be more exact in the selection of the type of stories he desires to direct.

It is said that while in Paris Laemmle's organization, Gade's services were sought by such notable personalities as Barthelemy and Norma and Constance Talmadge. However, being in the midst of directing "Siege," it was deemed impossible to allow him to give consideration to outside offers.

Gade is seriously weighing two tempting contract offers cabled him recently by European organizations, who still consider his "Hamlet" one of the outstanding foreign achievements.

Lenore J. Coffey who screenized "The Volga Boatman," now showing at the Carthy Circle, is now adapting to the screen "Vanity," an original story which she wrote for Leatrice Joy.

The opening, widening and extending of Normandie avenue as a wide through north-south traffic artery from Los Feliz Road to Manchester avenue was recommended yesterday afternoon by the City Council's Street Opening and Widening Committee.

The improvement has been under consideration by the Council for several years, and was recommended in the Major Traffic Street Plan. The estimated cost of the improvement is $3,781,000, and it is expected a contribution will be made toward it from city funds.

The committee yesterday approved proposed street lines of the widened street and recommended that the City Engineer be instructed to proceed with detailed engineering plans and ordinances. From Los Feliz Road to the intersection of the street is to be eighty feet wide, and thence to Manchester avenue the width will be 100 feet. From the intersection to be taken from the west side of Rosedale Cemetery, between Washington street and Venice Boulevard, the widening is to be 100 feet.

The Normandie-avenue opening and widening is one of three major traffic street projects advanced by the City Council's Street Opening and Widening Committee. The other two, totaling in cost more than $3,000,000.

Another is the widening of Highland avenue from the intersection of the boulevard to Santa Monica Boulevard, at an estimated cost of $1,427,000. The committee approved of the widening of the street to be assessed for the improvement and recommended that the City Engineer be instructed to proceed with the engineering plans for the improvement.

The third project approved by the committee is the widening to 100 feet of the street from the intersection to the Wilmington-San Pedro Road, a distance of two miles. This is part of the "figure eight" project, which will be discussed in the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner.

A man's social obligations demand recognition over his legal obligations, according to the philosophy of citizenship which Oscar Davis, negro, outlined before Municipal Judge Edmunds yesterday.

Davis, a bookbinder, was arrested about a week ago at Ninth and Hill streets recently for selling two bottles of gin to Police Officer H. H. Moore. He appeared in court in company with Martha Green, whom he had brought along as his sole witness, and told the judge he had bought and procured the liquor for the policeman because he "always felt sorry for him."

Martha corroborated his testimony by saying "That's right judge. Ah didn't want to see him go to jail."

Martha was paid on this box of, "as ain't de truth. Boss, dat boy ain't dead! No sith, he ju'z weak. He's a-coming back."

To leave 'at liquor alone. Ah 'specks now he will, yes sath!"

"Well, Oscar," Judge Edmunds asked, "I give you a suggestion. The sentence will you stay away from booze?"

"Well, sith, judge, Ah promise to 'well 'way from lekker everywhere 'ceptin' at mah lodge. Ah can't make no promise bout de booze, 'cause it's my life. Ah's got my personal friend, same's you have. Mo'sen them 'bout de booze. He's a-coming 'tasty drinkin' 'shery now 'tun them an' co's Ah ain't one t'ib hurt nobody's feelin's by no means. You believe me, 'un'erstan' at judge. Otherwise Ah'm puffedly willin' lay offen mah skin."

"A's 'air 'tuf bargain, judge," Martha interposed. "Ah hopes Oscar will do it."

Maybe Judge Edmunds thought so and maybe he didn't; at any rate Davis was given his suspended sentence.

Search was made for David A. Finn, 901 Argyle avenue, Hollywood, in Catalina waters yesterday following report to the Sheriff's office that skiff hired by him was found drifting and unoccupied a mile off shore.

Two notes for $12,500 each, said to have been given by Winifred H. Kinney, widow of Abbott Kinney, founder of Venice, to Victor C. Emden, yesterday were ordered canceled by Judge Rymer.
